

SIMPLY A GOLDBUG LIE

"I had no interview with the New York Times on the subject of silver or finance. All publications with regard to me are absolutely false. This morning I denied them in the New York Journal and the New York Times. There appears to have been a conspiracy to misrepresent me and my colleague. Neither of us have given out the interviews reported or any other interview at variance with our life-long devotion to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, by the United States alone, at the ratio of 16 to 1.

"WILLIAM M. STEWART."
That is the plain, unequivocal denial of Senator Stewart of the goldbug lie, that he had abandoned the cause for which he had been battling for years, the lie that was so industriously circulated by the subsidized press of the State and Coast.

What credence can be given anything that appears in those lying sheets that involves the welfare of the State, if it conflicts with the interests of the trust, which seem to have control of the Government and a large part of the press of the country? Does any intelligent person conscientiously believe that the demonization of silver has not been a deadly blow to the interests of the State? If he does, let him visit our deserted mining camps, which were once scenes of life and activity, giving employment at good wages to thousands of working men, and disabuse his mind of the mistaken idea. Why should any individual in the State of Nevada, unless he is actuated by mercenary motives and for a consideration serve the money sharks by attempting to deceive the people, support party or individual that advocates the single gold standard? Why should any newspaper published in this silver producing State rejoice at the defection of any prominent advocate of silver remonetization, if he is not a hireling of the gold trust or some other trust? Who believes that the adoption of the single gold standard is beneficial to the interests of Nevada? Is there a person of sound mind who thinks so? No, not one. Is there a person who has the hardihood to come out openly and assert that the closing of our silver mines is beneficial to the interests of the State? No, not one. The mercenaries and auxiliaries of the gold trust will not do so, because the people would not believe them, but they attempt to accomplish the purposes for which they are engaged by falsehood and deception. Have not the men who rejoiced yesterday at the rumored abandonment of the silver cause loudly proclaimed themselves in favor of free coinage? Read their declaration of principles promulgated at State and county conventions up to and including April, 1897, and see if they have not done so. What then is the logical inference to be drawn from their sudden change of opinion? That for personal aggrandisement they were not only willing, but desirous, to barter the welfare and prosperity of the commonwealth to the money sharks of the Eastern States and Europe. These hirelings of the money power have convicted themselves of resorting to falsehood, treachery and deceit to accomplish their ends and have proved themselves unworthy of the confidence and respect of their fellow citizens. Senator Stewart has publicly proclaimed that those miscreants are villifiers and maligners, who for purposes of their own misrepresent him and his colleague, Senator Jones, and declares over his signature that what they say of him and his colleague is absolutely false, but that does not bring a blush to their indurated cheeks, nor will it, in all probability, deter them from again resorting to falsehood to attempt to deceive the people.

Who wants to brave the dangers of the Klondyke now? A week ago a great strike was announced in Trinity county, California, in the Blue Jay claim. At that time $42,000 was taken out from one pocket and the lucky miners, the Graves Brothers, started for the San Francisco mint with their dust. While the owners were gone another rich pocket was found and $50,000 more taken out. Who wants to go to Klondyke now, with such promising opportunities under our very noses? Trinity county is perfectly accessible, water is plentiful, provisions readily obtained, and everything indicates that the rich claims are not all exhausted. A report has come in that another big strike of $18,000 has just been made on a claim just a little distance above the Blue Jay, so we may duplicate the cry of "All aboard for the Klondyke," by "What ho, for Trinity county."

Reno is getting jealous of Carson and so dug up a $3,000 fire last evening. The property destroyed was known as the Becker Bottling Works.—Carson News.

Reno has no occasion for jealousy in this direction. Had Carson ever suffered even one of the three or four big fires that Reno has been favored with, the site of our sister town would now be nothing more than a sagebrush flat.

Senator George of Mississippi is reported as in a dying condition at Mississippi City.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Wheat advanced to 84 3/4 at Chicago yesterday and reacted only three-eighths of a cent at the close. It still has an upward tendency in European markets.

Irving Mann, a son of Mrs. Schofield, wife of the man murdered near San Jose, has confessed to the officers that Daniel Dutcher killed his stepfather. Dutcher is in custody.

The Chippewa Indians have filed a protest with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs against the attempts which are being made to remove them from their reservation.

Hon. Wm. Jennings Bryan arrived at Anaconda, Montana, Friday night and was received with great enthusiasm. He addressed a large gathering in that city yesterday afternoon.

The seconds of Prince Henri of Orleans and the Count of Turin have chosen swords as the weapons and the duel is to take place to-morrow outside of France. The terms of the encounter are severe.

The Southside Broadway dock at San Francisco gave way yesterday morning and precipitated about one hundred tons of salt and sugar into the bay. No one happened to be near at the time, so there were no casualties.

A stage robbery occurred at Sol Futura, Yellowstone Park, yesterday morning. The robbers secured about $500. The agent at the park asked for authority to offer a reward for the capture of the robbers, but the Interior Department has no authority in the premises.

Mrs. Scott and daughter of Chocomauga Park, Tenn., were assaulted by an unknown white man yesterday. Both were found unconscious at their homes. Mrs. Scott stated that violent means were used to accomplish the deed. Mrs. Scott will recover, but her daughter is badly injured and will die. Scores of men are hunting for the fiend and if caught short work will be made of him.

The strike situation in the coal fields shows little change. In some localities the strikers are gaining points, while in others they meet discouragements. At Plum Creek, Penn., the victory is in favor of the companies and the strikers decided to go about the pits and talk to the men at work, but the sheriff would not permit it. The strikers in some districts have been ordered to disperse and in almost every instance have obeyed the order. In West Virginia, the Wheeling district is entirely closed and a meeting will be held to determine the closing of the last two mines in Ohio.

A surprise.

A party of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Reno visited Verdi last evening and surprised Mr. and Mrs. McGrew, who are members of both branches of the Odd Fellows in Reno. About forty-five went from here and they report having had a splendid time.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children when teething. If disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation and gives Tone and Energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."

Carson has passed an ordinance imposing a fine of $50 on anyone using water from a hydrant for street sprinkling or irrigation immediately after an alarm of fire has been sounded. It might be well for Reno to follow the example.

Howard McKissick is in from the northern country and will remain for a day or two.

Plain food is far more wholesome for the young than dainties; they corrupt, enfeeble and destroy the mind as well as the body.—C. J. Davreux.

Very few people are dainty, and yet how many pretend to be so! But like the ass that wore the lion's skin, their braying betrays them.—Daa, the Norwegian, 1809.

It is not in diminutive size, nor in beauty, nor in finish, that daintiness lies, but in a combination of the three. An ant is small, Yosemite is beautiful, the Venus-de-Medici is finished, but whoever call them dainty?

BICYCLE GOSSIP.

It is not at all likely that the L. A. W. will surrender its control over racing. There would be nothing left of it in that case.

Riders who must wear bicycle shoes should get a perfect fit if they desire comfort. A misfit is noticed much more on a wheel than while walking.

Montana taxes bicycles two dollars per annum. It is calculated that there are 3,000 bicycles in the state, and the $6,000 thus raised will not be spent on roads, of which there are none in the state worthy of the name.

In riding the wheel avoid all superfluous muscular movements. Wagging the head, dipping the shoulders and squirming with each downward thrust of the pedals will, in the course of a day's ride, exhaust enough energy to propel the machine several miles if it were rightly expended.

The czar of Russia is somewhat of a trick rider, since he has cultivated the art of marksmanship while mounted on a bicycle. The weapon he uses is a small and light rifle, possessing great carrying power. While steering with one hand he is able to raise the rifle with the other hand, and shoot with accuracy.

An improved punctureless armor for pneumatic tires has arc-shaped scales attached to the tread of the tire just inside the outer fabric, with flanges on one edge of the scales to overlap the straight edge of the next scale.

Gloves for use in husking corn are made with a steel point inside the palm to project out beyond the forefinger and rip the husks open.

A window shade which is adjustable at the top as well as at the bottom is hung on two cords which wind up on spring drums at the ends of the roller, the shade being raised and lowered as usual.

A newly-patented fishpole has a reversible butt with both ends hollowed out to receive the first joint of the rod, so it can be turned to bring the reel above or below the grip for the hand.

The combination of a dustpan and mouse-trap, recently invented, has a hinged top projecting over the pan which can be set by a spring catch and released by means of a lever on which bait is fixed.

In a recent patented roller bearing for vehicles the rollers are set at an angle in the cups and the cones can be drawn together by a wrench, thus making them capable of adjustment like ball bearings.

A new fire escape for use in hotels and large buildings is formed of a large cushioned chair with a box in the seat under the cushion containing a rope ladder to be attached to the chair and hung out of the window.

To cool beer and other liquids the barrel or reservoir from which they are to be drawn is connected with a coil of pipe running into a chamber and around a cake of ice, with the faucet at the other end of the pipe.

The Reno Republican federal office contingent were not overflowing with the exhilaration of the previous day yesterday. Senator Stewart's absolute denial of the alleged interviews had a tendency to make them droopy and reminded one of a cur dog that had just had a run trying to get away from a coal oil can tied to his tail. Of course the office seeker didn't resemble the dog, but their minds were doubtless imbued with an opinion similar to the dog's.

WAILING ON THE COMSTOCK.

Hanna's Hirelings Sorely Disappointed.

EDITOR STATE JOURNAL:—When the San Francisco Bulletin, whose sole occupation seems to be that of a scavenger, picking up the crumbs in the backyards of the predatory money trust, announced as a fact that Senator Stewart had abandoned silver and joined the gangs that feed upon Hanna's "ways of prosperity" the old "die in the last ditch" Republican organs in Nevada befouled their breeches in their uncontrollable glee, and praise for the sterling worth of Senator Stewart, the man for whom during the last six years and more they have had nothing but the vilest abuse. That Senator Stewart had turned against silver was not the great cause of their jubilation, but they were fully persuaded that he had been bought with Wall street gold, and that he would return to Nevada in the near future to lay out the slush-shovel campaign on the swag line and fill their hungry maws with the golden pabulum. Their political principles exist alone in their maws, and they are ready to rush and embrace any man or thing that will fill that aching void.

But the Senator, true to his patriotic impulses, and to his life-long convictions, has not abandoned the silver cause and joined the ranks of Nevada's traitors. He denounces the alleged interview as a base, but common Republican and Associated Press, lie. So the joy and drunken revelry of the gold-bug hirelings and Hanna lickspittles have been turned into most bitter disappointment. And now dire woe and gaunt want and the receding of Federal offices from their view are preying upon their vitals, and there is wailing and weeping in the household of Hanna's faithful. Their grief moves our tender hearts and our eyes to blimming tears and we cannot longer dwell on their frightful and miserable condition, so let the curtain drop.

FOR PURE WATER.

A Taxpayer Approves the Acts of the City Trustees.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—If I understand the scope of the efforts of our City Trustees correctly in regard to their efforts to supply Reno with good, clear, sparkling water, I say go ahead you are right.

I say this because I am of the opinion that Reno can get pure water in that way by gravitation. The place, selected for the sump or headwaters is about eight miles west of Reno. With a proper reservoir at the place indicated, I think it would be entirely practical to pipe the water to Reno and supply every house with good, clean water.

If I am correctly informed, this source of supply is everlasting. A proper pipe line from this source of supply would give a pressure of nearly 200 feet on Virginia street.

Go ahead, Messers. City Trustees, I believe the citizens of Reno will approve your acts.

Reno, August 15, 1897.

Hon. S. Summerfield as a Chef de Cuisine.

Hon. S. Summerfield is the chef de cuisine of his party now rusticiating in Grizzly Valley. It is said that some of the fish chowders, quail and dove potpies and rabbit stews that he prepares are of such an intricate and complicated character that they are simply indescribable.

When he gets down to his work he takes the several cook books that he procured before leaving Reno and prepares any especial dish in accord with the recipes, using all of the ingredients and directions given in the several books, and strictly adhering to the rules laid down in general practice in preparing a brief in a complicated suit or a transcript in a case before the Supreme Court. As he serves the dish he elaborates in a learned and impressive manner on the science of cookery and the marvelous idiosyncrasies of the trained tastes of an educated epicure, punctuating his dissertation by now and then skimming off a spider, a few flying ants or fishing out a grub-worm that has accidentally fallen into the conglomeration. Tom Boat and Frank Norcross, with a homesick expression on their countenances, meekly listen to the advice of what they should listen in order to enjoy life and grow fat and strong like their legal companion, but when opportunity offers murmur to each other "don't you wish we were home."

Summerfield made some biscuits the other day and they were marvelous. In fact the young ladies in Judge Webster's party have saved a number of them as rare souvenirs. Summerfield wrote to his wife, also his legal partner, J. D. Torreyson, at Carson, and there being no writing paper or envelopes in camp, Sard utilized a couple of the biscuits as postal cards by writing the address on one side and what he had to say on the other, sticking a stamp on them and letting them go. They passed through the mail all right and reached their destinations.

Roy Sunderland has a Mountain Experience.

The first of the week, Roy Sunderland, son of the well-known Reno merchant, started from Grizzly Valley for Quincy to visit his classmates, Johnny Thompson and Dan Finlayson. On the way across the mountains, he got lost and had to remain out over night. Visions of the grizzly bear, the coyote and the California lion, on the wild mountain tops, must have made the night one not to be forgotten by the University cadet. He reports numerous Reno people camping in Grizzly.—Plumas Bulletin.

Will Again Locate in Reno.

Dr. J. A. Lewis and wife are expected to arrive from New York to-morrow with the intention of again taking up a permanent residence in Reno. The doctor will resume his practice as of old. The health of Mrs. Lewis is the main consideration that impels Dr. Lewis to return to his old stamping ground.

Mrs. T. K. Stewart and children, who have been visiting in New York and Brooklyn for some months, will also return with Dr. Lewis and wife.

The New Tahoe Road.

Fenton Bonham, who has just returned from a trip to Lake Tahoe, reports the road via Galena Creek and Mount Rose in excellent condition. He says the Virginia and Gold Hill Water Company has been doing some hauling over the road and have put it in good repair. Anyone wishing to visit the lake over this route will find the trip comparatively easy and the reports that the road is in bad condition, untrue.

Buried at Wadsworth.

Engineer W. W. Geery, who met his death at his post of duty near Marysville on last Wednesday, was buried at Wadsworth on Friday under the auspices of the Masonic, I. O. O. F., A. O. U. W. and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to all of which Orders he belonged.

The funeral was attended by almost all of Wadsworth, besides many visiting friends of the deceased. The ceremonies were very impressive and affecting.

C. H. Sproule of the Elko Free Press spent the day here yesterday. Mr. Sproule is National Committeeman of the Republican party of Nevada and how he lived all of one day in Reno under the pressure of the federal office seekers is a mystery. He presented the appearance of a martyr last evening, but the absence of two or three of the most important ones from town doubtless saved his life.

NOVEL WORK FOR WOMEN

Odd Occupations Followed by the Fair Sex in London.

There Are Dog Walkers and Portresses and Female Cabbies Are Looked for Next — New Fields of Labor.

It has been left to London to organize an institution that will give the new woman a decidedly new field.

The women's institute promises to be the most unique institution that ever was created for the gentler sex. Among the chief occupations which those who place themselves under its protecting wings will be trained in are those of dog walker and hotel portress.

The first of these callings is as novel as it is surprising. Certain families have dogs which need exercise. There are no grounds attached to the homes of these dog owners, and therefore the only way for the pets to enjoy fresh air is to be walked up and down the sidewalk, after the fashion of the dogs belonging to the flat dwellers in New York.

Now, the dog walker knows all about dogs. She calls at houses where she has learned canines are kept and presents a card, on which is printed in neat script: "Miss Dolly Periwinkle, Walker of Dogs."

To the person who receives the card the lady states that for so much per month she will guarantee to take a dog and trot him about the streets twice a day, each trip to consume 30 minutes. This gives the dog an outing of an hour a day, and as the charges rarely exceed three shillings a week it is believed the dog walker will find her occupation both profitable and pleasant, provided the dog permits it.

Some of the feminine dog walkers whom the women's institute has already placed have been bitten by ill-tempered charges. Such cases are all the more sorrowful, because the dog walker makes an agreement that if the dog bites her she will make no fuss about it, but accept the bite in the spirit in which it is offered.

The dog walker is required to give security for the animal she takes temporarily under her care, and this difficulty has been remedied by a bond given by the women's institute and indorsed by one or another of the patronesses, whose name is as good as gold. The pleasant-faced dog walkers have met with very good success, but those with apparently unkind dispositions have found their new profession very unprofitable.

Experience as hotel portresses on the part of the proteges of the women's institute have not as yet produced any great results. About the only class of women who can handle big trunks and matters of that sort never heard of the women's institute and were not particularly anxious to make its acquaintance. Where women have only found it necessary to carry hand baggage they have succeeded very well.

Other lines in which the proteges of the institute have begun to engage are billposting and paperhanging, in each of which they have achieved fairly excellent success.

It is the aim of the institute to furnish to women new fields to occupy. The members believe that woman should invade the domain of man to a far greater extent than heretofore, and that there are very many callings at which that type of woman with more strength than brains could make excellent livings, where now they are quite likely to lack the necessities of life.

The institute members claim that woman has proved to be a good farmer, and, that being the case, there is no reason why she should not succeed in those lighter occupations of man in the cities which call for no greater degree of strength in manual labor than is exercised by the women who farm.

The next step that the institute proposes to take is to secure a number of cabs and have them driven by women. The drivers are to wear divided skirts and must in every instance be young, strong and rather inclined to worldly wisdom.—N. Y. Herald.

A Boy Whipped by Owls.

An Illinois boy went hunting one day and in a patch of woodland he saw a large owl perched high up in a tree. Owls are not good to eat, and they are useful to the farmer in catching mice that infest the barn, but this boy, like most boys, only thirsted to kill something; so he fired, and brought down the owl. He ran to pick up the owl, supposing it to be dead, but it was only slightly disabled, and promptly fastened its talons into the flesh of his right hand. This was bad enough, but presently there came another owl, apparently the mate of the first one, and the two birds proceeded to give the young hunter such a thrashing as he will never have again in his lifetime. Indeed, he had to fight with all his strength to reach the spot where he had left his gun. Securing that, he beat off the owls, which finally took flight. Tattered, torn and bleeding, the boy had no energy left to pursue them, or even to reload his gun. He staggered to the nearest house, had his wounds dressed and went home, empty-handed, but wiser.—Golden Days.

Desert Rattlesnakes.

In the same wastes of southern California two varieties of rattlesnakes are found. The larger ones, called "tiger rattlers," sometimes attain a length of four feet, but it is said that they are sluggish, and far less dangerous than a smaller variety named the "side-winder." This name comes from the snake's habit of moving sideways, as well as advancing in the ordinary manner. It is also called the "horned rattlesnake," on account of the horn-like protuberances over its eyes. It seldom exceeds a foot and a half in length, but its motions are very quick, and it has the reputation of being "vicious."—Youth's Companion.

How Snakes Climb Trees.

A snake does not always climb a tree by winding around it. The smaller serpents use the ventral plates as hooks.

Dead Children in Spain.

The receptacles for dead children in Spain are coffins of pink, blue or gray tint, which are carried open to the grave.

An American Girl Lent Her Figure
to Victoria.

It Was Back in 1837, and the Girl
Was the Daughter of Thomas Sully, America's Greatest Portrait Painter.

About two years ago a handsome old lady, Miss Blanche Sully, of Philadelphia, visited Washington. She was the guest of her sister, the late Mrs. John H. Wheeler, 28 Grant place. In 1837 this lady was a beautiful girl, and had an experience no other American girl ever enjoyed. Her father, Thomas Sully, America's greatest portrait painter, had been engaged by the Society of St.
George and St. Andrew of Philadelphia, to paint the portrait of the young queen of England, Blanche Sully, his daughter, accompanied her father on this interesting mission. Both were quartered at Windsor castle, and Queen Victoria consented to pose for the portrait until the face was finished. After that the royal robes were placed on the shoulders of Blanche Sully, and she stood for hours in the position as indicated in the steel engravings now in the possession of Col. Sully Wheeler, of Washington, the grandson of Thomas Sully. This steel engraving was the original executed in London under the supervision of Sully himself, and was owned by that artist until he gave it to his daughter, Mrs. Ellen Sully Wheeler, for many years an honored resident of the nation's capital. Mrs.
Wheeler had two sons, who now live here, Col. Sully Wheeler and Maj. Woodbury Wheeler. These gentlemen recall many incidents connected with the painting of this portrait, especially in connection with the queen's jubilee.
Miss Blanche Sully was then a charming girl, and the head of her, painted by her father, gives evidence of rare beauty and refinement. She found the coronation robes of the young queen a burden, weighing 40 pounds, and probably became very tired of her gorgeous borrowed plumage, but when the task was done and her father's portrait was hung in the Royal academy, a simple portrait was ordered for Buckingham palace, and Queen Victoria gave Blanche Sully a splendid diamond signet ring and an autograph letter thanking her for the trouble she had taken.
Sully received $40,000 for the portrait
he painted for the Society of St. George and St. Andrew, and was munificently paid for those he painted for his English patrons. After his return to this country he spent much time with his daughter, Mrs. Ellen Sully Wheeler, and during one of his visits painted a charming group, which represents Mrs.
Wheeler with her two babies, now stalwart citizens of the District.
When the war began Sully Wheeler was in the United States navy, and gallantly served his country throughout that memorable struggle. The other joined the confederates and fought as bravely for a lost cause. They were again reunited after peace resumed her propitious sway.
Gen. Alfred Sully, the son of the artist, was a brigadier general in the federal army, and was frequently quartered in Washington. He was a graduate of West Point and a participant in the Indian wars, the Mexican war, and distinguished himself in several engagements in the late war, rising from the rank of captain to brigadier general.
Col. Sully Wheeler and Maj. Woodbury
Wheeler own many splendid specimens of their distinguished grandfather's art.
There is no finer collection of portraits in any one family connection in the District of Columbia. The flesh tints in Sully's portraits retain to a wonderful degree their original coloring. As the years go by his fame increases, and he is easily first among the American artists. The romantic episode in his life and in that of his beautiful daughter Blanche, when they spent two months in Windsor castle, is revived by the jubilee celebration in which the world has just taken part—
